

With regard to the prospect of increasing LPFM services.

I am opposed to this because it could possibly affect the availability of KLOVE radio in my area. KLOVE is an excellent service. I receive all my news and information from K-LOVE radio, as do many other residents of my area. K-LOVE also provides a musical alternative to the negative messages and imagery provided on conventional music radio stations. I know I can listen to K-LOVE at any time without any risk of listening to offensive or objectionable material. Parents with children can also rest assured that their children can listen to K-LOVE without fear of being affected by negative influences so pervasive in modern popular music.

Were we to lose our K-LOVE service in the Central California region, we would lose a positive source of information, encouragement, and musical enjoyment. It is in the best interest of the community that the K-LOVE service remain available as it now exists on radio because K-LOVE provides a positive message, reinforcing positive values of love and encouragement, and plays music that is free of negative stereotypes, content and language.
